

Save the Date for a Virtual Conference and Conversation
April 9th & 10th 2021

The Intersection of Gender, Sexuality and Our Current Crises: The Psychological Impact of Race, Politics, Economics, and COVID

Claudia Rankine will offer a keynote on Friday night, and will be joined in conversation with San Francisco analyst, Francisco Gonzalez. Saturday will be a day of presentations and study on the intersectionality of our current world crises and gender and sexuality.

Two panels of forward-thinking psychoanalysts, along with break-out groups for self-study will offer the enriching opportunity to think, synthesize and reflect on issues concerning race, class, health and politics and the place of gender and sexuality.

Organized by The International Psychoanalytical Association's Committee on Women and Psychoanalysis (COWAP), the Committee on Sexual and Gender Diversity Studies (SGDS), and the InterCommittee on Prejudices and Racism, and by The American Psychoanalytic Association's Committee on the Status of Women and Girls (CoSWaG) and Committee on Gender and Sexuality (COGS).

---

Conference Chair:

Paula Ellman

Organizing Committee:

Cecile Bassen, Victor Bonfilio, Margarita Cereijido, Hilli Dagony-Clark, Jill Gentile, Ethan Grumbach, Janice Lieberman, and Catherine Mallouh.

First Panel:

"The Psychological Impact of Our Current Crises Through the Lens of Race, Politics, Economics, and Gender"

Second Panel:

"The Impact of the Pandemic Crisis on Gender Diversity and Dynamics: A time of Transformation"

Sponsors:

The conference is being co-sponsored by the International Psychoanalytic Association, The American Psychoanalytic Association, and the Contemporary Freudian Society.

Keynote Speaker:

Claudia Rankine, American poet and essayist, past recipient of the MacArthur "Genius" Award, and author of the newly released, Just Us: An American Conversation. She is also the author of Citizen: An American Lyric, and Don't Let Me Be Lonely. She is the Frederick Isemund Professor of Poetry at Yale University.

International Speakers:

Leticia Glocer Fiorini from Buenos Aires and Jhuma Basak from Kolkata.

Other Speakers to be Announced.

8.5 CEs/CMEs will be offered.

